COMMENTS FROM THE OFFICE OF THE TOWN MANAGER

The highway department, except for one man, will be on vacation the week of July 19.

Mrs. Young, town clerk is also taking her vacation starting July 12.

After vacations the rebuilding of the Rabbit Road Bridge will commence. We will widen the bridge and improve the approach from Route 26. The present abutments will be faced and lengthened with concrete. Steel stringers will be used and if funds permit a concrete floor covered with asphalt will be applied.

Much more time is being devoted to patrolling the town for dogs. Although any extra effort made, does improve the situation, complete control is impossible due to the fact dogs do not stay in one place very long. Call to the office or to the Police Officer help, as this gives us an idea of the location of the worst offenders.

Preliminary surveying has been completed for the location of the Sewage Disposal Plant and lines to connect it to the present outflows. The process of acquiring the necessary land and easements has started when the locations are certain.

Elwyn N. Dickey

Mrs. Harriet Forbes, Rumford, is a guest of Mrs. Sylvia Conroy. Miss Cynthia Chapin was one of 97 University of Maine, Orono, students named to the Dean's List with a 4.0 All A's rank for the spring semester.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY PLANS BETHEL'S FIRST HOMECOMING DURING WEEK END OF OCT. 3

One hundred and seventy-five years ago on Aug. 15, Bethel held its first town meeting, having been incorporated as a town June 10, 1796. With this anniversary in mind the Bethel Historical Society is sponsoring Bethel's First Home Coming the week end of Oct. 2, and asking that all organizations and individuals participate in making this event a real success.

Mrs. Elizabeth Mason Carter, held a meeting with the committee at the Sudbury Inn on June 30, and the program is planned to run for a day and a half starting with registration at 11 a. m. on Oct. 2.

Each committee member has been assigned some part of the program to work on with a local organization, as it is felt this is something in which the whole community will wish to be involved.

It is hoped with publicity starting now, all Bethel natives and former residents, and anyone interested in the Bethel area, will set aside this week end to revisit Bethel. Letters are being sent by the membership committee to a long list of people known to have resided here, and it is hoped that everyone in this area will tell all their relatives and friends.

Details of the program will be announced later, but it does include plenty of opportunity for everyone to visit with each other, and enjoy Bethel landmarks. There will be an antique exhibit, church services, and many special features.

The committee will welcome offers of help.

Co-Chairman of the committee is Edward Quinn, and others are: Rosalind Chapman, Edward Ferron, Ronald Gilbert, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Holt, Mr. and Mrs. John T. Grover, Mrs. Edward Quinn, and John Winslow.

The next committee meeting will be held in August, with progress reports to be made to the committee chairmen in the meantime.

STATE C. D. PROVIDES GUIDES FOR COPING WITH EFFECTS OF HOT, HUMID WEATHER

Severe hot weather through the summer months can be disastrous to some people in Maine if not handled properly, warned Emilien A.
Levesque, director of Maine Civil Defense and Public Safety Agency.
In conjunction with unusually high weather temperatures in the State, the Agency has issued the following information concerning the ill effects of excessive heat, and what first aid steps may be taken to lessen the danger or discomfort of heat exhaustion, heat stroke, heat cramps and sunburn.
Effects of Excessive Heat: Exposure to excessive heat may result in heat exhaustion, heat stroke, and heat cramps, the first named being most common. In exhaustion cases, the temperature is approximately normal; in stroke, it is high. Most likely to be affected are the aged, the obese, the very young, alcohol and drug addicts, and those suffering from any disease that impairs the strength of the entire body.
Prevention: Prevention measures relate to activity, clothing, fluids, possibly diet, and control of environment. Ill effects of heat are noted most often in northern sections. Persons living in tropical climates adapt their activity and clothing better to hot weather. The mid-day and early afternoon respite from activity is usual in tropical countries; ex-posure to direct sunlight is largely avoided, light colored clothing that reflects rather than absorbs sunlight is used. It would be wise if persons in northern climates followed these procedures during periods of intense heat.
Profuse perspiration helps cool the body, but it draws the fluids and certain chemicals away. These must be replaced by intake of much water together with extra salt. The amounts needed vary with the amount of perspiration. A level teaspoon of salt twice a day probably suffices for the chemical replacement in most working conditions, though under extreme conditions more may be required.
Formerly it was thought that one should avoid a heavy diet and partake only sparingly of protein during hot weather. Now there is doubt that significant restriction of protein intake is necessary. It seems reasonable to avoid overeating. Hot weather and high humidity are especially likely to cause trouble to those doing heavy physical work.
Control measures for indoors such as adequate ventilation and wise air conditioning are helpful to all, but particularly to workers exposed to high temperatures and humidity.
Heat Exhaustion. This common condition may be mild or severe. In mild cases the patient feels uncomfortable; he may have headache and nausea. In severe cases, perspiration is profuse, weakness, extreme skin pale and clammy. The temperature is approximately normal. Unconsciousness is rare.
First Aid. Provide bed rest. Administer salt solution, a half teaspoonful per half-glass of water every 15 minutes for three or four days. These patients, though nauseated at first perhaps, usually can take the fluid after a period of bed rest. Medical care is needed for severe illness.
Heat Stroke. Elderly people are prone to develop heat stroke. It may appear in them on hot days during such apparently mild activity as a walk. But they are not the only victims. The usual evidences are headache, dry skin, and rapid pulse.
There may be dizziness and nausea.
Unconsciousness occurs in many severe cases. The temperature is well above normal, often to 106, and sometimes above 109 degrees. Heat stroke is extremely dangerous. The toll is highest in the aged.
First Aid. Medical care is urgently needed. The patient should be transported to a hospital as soon as possible. While awaiting such attention, bring the patient indoors, give the salt solution, indicated as above, as tolerated.
Sponge the body freely with alcohol or lukewarm water, to reduce the temperature to more tolerable levels, that is 104 degrees or so. If a thermometer is not at hand, the only guides are the patient's general condition and his pulse rate. A rate below 110 per minute is probably associated with a tolerable temperature.
Once this level is reached, caution

BARRACKS & AUXILIARY HOLD REGULAR MEETING

The Barracks and Auxiliary No.
2913 held their regular meeting on Tuesday evening, July 6, at the Legion Hall on Vernon Street.
The meeting was opened in due form with President Rose Taylor, presiding. Only seven members were present. A short business meeting followed.
It was reported that two members, Blanch Howe and Agnes Chase, were at the Rumford Hospital. Cards were signed by the members.
The Auxiliary received a state citation in membership and an award for being the first to report 100% over 20 members. Also one on publicity (scrabble). It was voted to hold State Convention at Rangleys in 1972.
Mrs. Helen Pappas of Togus is the Auxiliary State President.
Silent auction was played after the meeting, and cake coffee and ice cream were served. The Barracks joined the Auxiliary for the refreshments.
It is necessary. The temperature may decline more or it may rise again.
Cease the sponging and observe the patient for 10 minutes. If the temperature starts to rise again, renew the sponging cautiously. Give no stimulants; administer fluid and salt in small doses when full consciousness is evident. Later, provide covering according to his comfort.
Heat Cramps. Cramps usually involve the abdominal muscles or the limbs. Loss of chemicals in profuse perspiration precedes the cramps. The condition may be associated with heat exhaustion.
First Aid. Heat cramps usually respond better to firm pressure than to vigorous kneading. The application of warm, wet towels also gives relief. In addition administer salt water solution as described for heat exhaustion as follows: Salt water solution: A half teaspoonful of salt to a half glass of water every 15 minutes, for at least three or four days.
Sunburn. Sunburn is caused mainly by ultraviolet rays. A slight over-exposure causes tiny blood vessels in the skin to dilate; the skin becomes red. As over-exposure increases, tissue injury starts, swelling of the skin occurs, blisters appear, and often fever and headache develop.
Prevention. Severe sunburn causes great discomfort and may require bed rest for many days. The most effective prevention lies in limiting the time of initial exposure. The first exposure should not be longer than 10 to 15 minutes. On sea and lake shores and at high altitudes, the increase of exposure time should be gradual; about one-third of the previous time if sunbaths are taken daily, and one fourth or less if exposures are less frequent. Sunburn may follow exposure on a cloudy day.
Commercial preparations for protection against sunburn vary in their effects. Some have hardly any protecting effects; others are highly effective but many cause allergic reactions.
First Aid. For mild sunburn, cold cream or such oils or greases as salad oil or shortening may relieve pain. Wash the hands before applying the material. Medicated creams may cause skin allergies. Butter or oleo-margarine should not be applied.
A dressing should be used if blistering appears. Medical care is needed for extensive and severe cases.
The injured area should not be exposed again to the sun until healing is completed.
Your body keeps itself at the proper temperature by giving off heat at the rate of a 125-watt electric light bulb.

MAINE'S LIBRARY SERVICES TO BE STUDIED BY TASK FORCE

A large portion of Maine's population is being short-changed by not receiving library service equal to that which is available in the larger communities, the Governor's Task Force to Study Library Services in Maine reported yesterday.
"Library service in Maine is definitely unequal and depends, to a large extent on geographical location," said the Task Force in its final report. "This is particularly true and most important in the public and in the school libraries.
In an age when information and access to it are vital to the economic and social well being of all, it is most important that a program be implemented that will lessen, if not end, these inequities."
The final report was presented to Gov. Kenneth M. Curtis by the Task Force.
As the work of the Task Force proceeded, it became evident that a long-range plan for library improvement required more fact finding and broader study than the time limitations would permit," said Dr.
Clifford O. T. Wieden, chairman of the Task Force. "Our data and study, however, will certainly provide a strong foundation for future planning."
The Task Force supported legislation creating a two-year Library Advisory Committee which will continue the work of the Task Force and present more specific recommendations to the next Legislature.
The legislation was enacted by the Legislature and will take effect in the fall.
In addition to the problem of unequal service, the Task Force concluded that library service in Maine is "substantially deficient" whether the service is measured against national standards or against the specific needs of Maine people for information, education and recreation.
The need for continued planning and coordination of all types of library service was recognized as well as the need for an increasing awareness on the part of the public of the importance of broadly improved library service to the social and economic well being of the entire community.
"Library service, public, school and academic, has suffered many decades of neglect," said the Task Force report. "Facilities, staffing, collections and services can only be improved through the allocation of significantly more of Maine's human and economic resources toward this purpose."
MISS WARDWELL NAMED DIETITIAN AT RUMFORD HOSPITAL
Miss Jane A. Wardwell, registered dietitian from Bryant Pond, has been appointed therapeutic and chief dietitian at Rumford Community Hospital, according to Richard W.
Williamson, acting administrator.
As a registered dietitian, she succeeds Mrs. Perry Allen, who recently resigned for early retirement.
Miss Wardwell received her Bachelor of Science Degree in Home Economics from the University of Maine at Orono in June, 1969. The following year she held a dietetic internship at the Frances Stern Nutrition Center of Tufts New England Medical Center, Boston. She was awarded her Master of Education in Nutrition from Tufts University, Medford, Mass., in May of 1971.
She is a member of the Maine Dietetic Association.
Mr. and Mrs. Randall Stevens and grandsons spent the week end camping at Small Point.
Saturday guests of Miss Eugenia Haselton were her brother, Charles Haselton, Bangor, and her niece and family, Mr. and Mrs. James Hoyal and three children of Brewer. They all enjoyed a picnic at Storyland.
Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Brooks at their cottage at Small Point this past week end were Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Butters, Tony and Lottie; Mrs. Warren Hastings and children, and Mrs. Maude Danforth.
First Aid is the "immediate and temporary care given the victim of an accident or sudden illness until the services of a physician can be obtained." The first objective is to save life.

JONES - BELL

A pretty summer wedding was held at 2:00 p. m. on July 3 at the First Congregational Church in Andover when Miss Susan C. Bell, of Lynn, Mass., daughter of Mrs. Cecelia Bell, Lynn, Mass., and Albert Bell, East Andover, became the bride of Roger L. Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Jones, East Andover.

Mr. and Mrs. Roger L. Jones

The single ring ceremony was performed by Jay Cummings, pastor of the First Congregational Church. Ross B. Swain was guest organist.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father. She wore a white lace gown with long sleeves, high neckline and a long chapel length train. Her shoulder length veil fell from a seeded tiara. She carried a colonial bouquet of red rose buds and mums.

The matron of honor was the bride's sister, Miss Elizabeth B. Bell, Lynn, Mass. She wore a lavender chiffon floor length gown with matching veil that fell from a lavender bow. The bridesmaids were Miss Laura Jones, sister of the groom, and Miss Diana O'Brien, friend of the bride, Lynn, Mass. Miss Jones wore a floor length green gown and Miss O'Brien wore a pink lace gown. Each wore veils attached to matching bows. All attendants carried a single rose.

The flower girl, Miss Heidi Porter, niece of the bride, wore a floor

DAILY VACATION BIBLE SCHOOL AT METHODIST CHURCH BEING PLANNED

Plans are well under way Daily Vacation Bible School at Bethel United Methodist Church. The school will be held Monday through Friday, July 26-30, from 9 to 11 a. m.

The only expense to students will be a registration fee of fifty cents which will be used to help defray the expense of the craft material and refreshments.

If any one would like to help who has not indicated this as yet, more helpers can still be used. Any volunteers are asked to contact Mrs. Frederick Bailey or Mrs. Sarah Stevens.

It would help in planning for sufficient teachers and helpers if children or parents of children who think they will be possibly attending would contact one of the following: Pre-School and Kindergarten Children: Mrs. Mary Angevine (pre-school, 3 years old and up); Grades 1, 2, 3: Mrs. Rodney Hanson; Grade 4, 5, 6: Mrs. Richard Stevens, or Mrs. Frederick Bailey.

Any who can't donate time are recommended that craft materials, such as paper, paint cardboard tubes, boxes and all sorts of other materials are needed. A complete list is posted on the bulletin board at the church.

Each member is asked to bring his own.

A special feature at this gathering will be a meeting of the Scholarship committee, with John Pottle of Outfield presiding.

GREENWOOD CITY

Mrs. Callie Morgan, Corres.
As the gray pearly dawn came, the day was tipped with golden light. Soft misty shadows above the pond made a background for the many daisies nodding slightly.

Hushed silence reigned over all the countryside.

The sun, a shimmering explorer, danced across the blue to rest on Edgcomb mountain.

One lonely duck was eating his breakfast among the reeds.

Thus started another day, a country day either of monotony or magic, depending on the person; a panorama ever changing with smell, sound, sight and emotion.

With my washing on the line, a trip to the farm for vegetables, and the mowing of the lawns, the morning vanished.

Then my heart went a-gypaying to the freckled fields where the bobolinks would sing and catch the sunbeams from the sky.

So I set out to find the wild strawberries ripening in the grass along the slopes and fields high above the valley. This task to some is arduous for the berries are small; but who could mind in a world so lovely!

A soft breeze brought the sun-dappled hay smell and all the fields sparkled in rainbow colors; and sweetness just dropped here in summer's cup.

I could hear whispering in the

ERNEST ANGEVINE Bethel, Maine

tree-tops and if I forced my ears to listen I could hear the scratch and rattle of the grasshopper or the rustle of a beetle in flight.

To mar the pleasure there were the "clip-wings" buzzing and biting and a million other little hummings, buzzings, and rustlings.

I suppose it's a chorus that goes with daisy time in the meadows and wild rose time along the walls.

Of course, the bumble, the bumblebee, was about and although he is armed like the hornet he seldom looks for trouble. He seems to eat when hungry, bumble when he wishes and rest when tired, couching nights in a zinnia or some other flower.

James Whitcomb Riley said, "We are knee-deep in June". How true for the fields below showed richness, ripeness, and the farmer at work.

It was hay time and nothing quite matches the smell of new mown grass drying in the sun. It floated up to me and mingled with the strawberry smell and the aromatic scent of pine and spruce; impregnated air warm and dry releasing its scents.

The sound of the baler floated upward while a charm of gold finches, like big yellow butterflies, hovered and twittered overhead.

Occasionally the sun was hidden behind the clouds so the light had a silvery softness.

The cows grazed peacefully next to the pond.

It took some time to pick a quart of berries with so many other things of interest. Then I returned to where the swallows rose, flinging themselves against the sky then diving to hit the water, their chatter happy and friendly.

Taking in clothes and putting them away, preparing the strawberries for supper brought the working part of the day nearly to a close.

That evening on the lawn was replaced by the gentleness of night. Mystical shadows along the shorelines and across the lawns while homing birds were in silent flight.

Everything was teeming with life; millions of flying things, crawling things, scurrying things, and yet there was a silence I don't know why. The noises just got lost.

In the west was a display of color that delighted the eye.

The fireflies brought their lamps. Stars appeared.

Sweet peace of evening, contentment won by honest toil and work well done.

This is the beauty of the country side" (Minnie O. Adams) Nearly 400 one gallon hard plastic jugs once containing milk are now buying a fine float at the Milton Inman camp. These were saved by friends, neighbors, and dump catchers during the winter, then carefully capped, packed and fitted to gether this spring. Finally the day came to push the wharf into the water accompanied by cows. "It floats!" It surely does, solid, firm, and safe!

So ecology classes with the old slogan, "Use it up, wear it out, make it do, or do without" fits here.

A good way to keep the air from pollution; avoid burning those jugs, save them to build a wharf. It is really worth a try!

Elsie Inman was a patient at Stephens Memorial Hospital a few days this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Chase, West Paris, was a Sunday dinner guest of Mr. and Mrs. Leona Holt. Mrs. Clyde Morgan spent Friday with her cousin, Mrs. Carl Brooks, West Paris.

Minnie Buck, Rena Bacon, West Paris, and Annie Mills, Shapleigh, were callers at Mrs. Clyde Morgan's this week.

Callers at the Millets this week were: Barbara Immonen, Mrs. Sandra Coffin and son, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Barrett, Mr. and Mrs. Ellis.

He was born at Greenwood, July 23, 1895, the son of Eugene and Elizabeth Morton Tebbets. He was a graduate of Edward Little High School and Bowdoin College, class of 1919. Mr. Tebbets served in the U. S. Army during World War I and was married to the former Jeanette Churchill at Minot, Aug. 4, 1919.

This mill was sold to the Ekco Products Co. in 1941 and was known as the Ekco-Tebbetts Co., of which he was general manager. Mr. Tebbets retired in June 1962 and the Company, still located in Locke Mills, is known as Ekco Wood Products Co., with his son, John, as general manager and vice president.
